HONORED. Recipients of the Silver Beaver Awards presented by the Boy Scouts, were Clayton Bannan (c.) and William M. Hill (r.). Committee chairman Karl M. Rogers made the presentations at the annual recognition dinner.

RUSH AWARD. W. C. Fuelhart, Warren County Civil Defense director, was the recipient of the Benjamin Rush award for his outstanding contribution to the welfare of the community.

The award is presented annually by the local medical society for the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

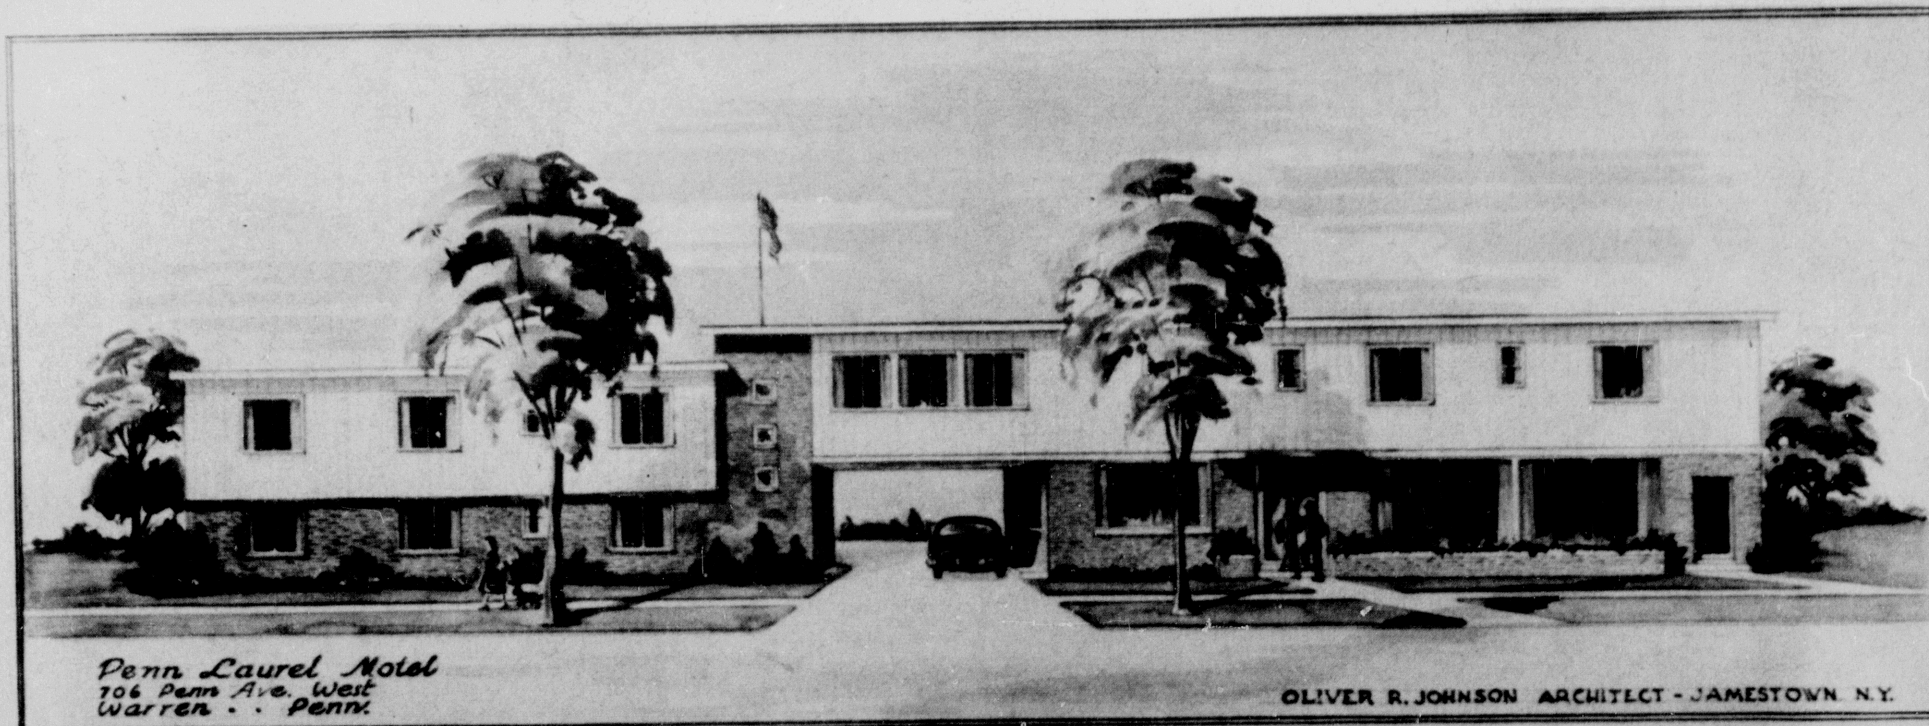

NO. 1 CITIZEN. Advanced to the rank of Vice Admiral by President Eisenhower was Robert Lee Dennison, son of Mrs. L. W. Dennison, 311 Market st., Warren.

PENN LAUREL MOTEL. Partners Dan Dodge and Orrie Beebe started erecting this new Penn Laurel Motel in the 700 block of Pennsylvania ave., W.

When completed the "L" shape structure will have 42 units, a 200-seat dining room and a lounge.

FOUR LIVES WERE LOST in the Carver Hotel fire which occurred in the very early hours of April 25. Here we see the second of several major wall collapses. The hotel was completely lost, but firemen saved all surrounding buildings in an outstanding example of mutual aid on the part of neighboring fire companies. Tons of water were poured into the caldron which developed from seasoned dry wood within a wall of hot brick. Warren firemen saved many lives in heroic ladder work. The delay gave the hot fire a greater start but the people brought to safety probably would have been lost if they had been ignored for what probably was destined to be a losing battle with the flames. The cause still is not known.

QUEEN AND COURT. The year's reigning lady at the Fourth of July celebration was Miss Betty Pasquino. In her court were Sandra Jean Winner, Pat Bengston, Regina Coppola and Linda Boardman.

STATE EXEC. Honored with his election as executive vice president of the Pennsylvania State Jaycees was K. Earl Abel, Jr.

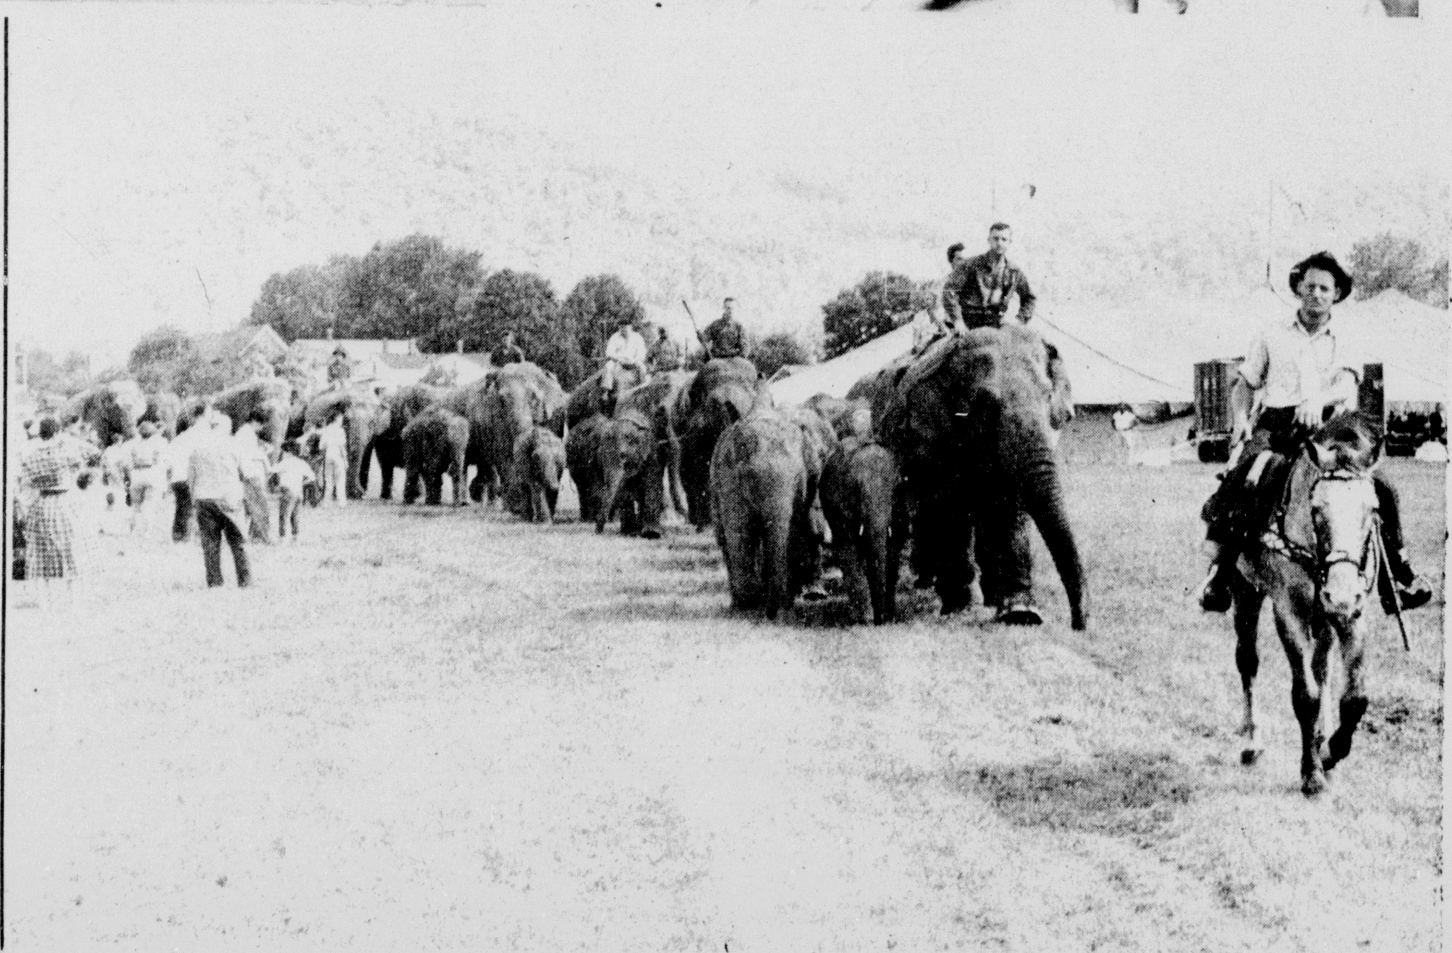

DERBY DAY. One of the highlights of July was the Soap Box Derby in which over 60 young boys participated. Sparked by the Jaycees, the big event will be held again this year on a co-sponsorship basis.

JR. CITIZEN. Lee Thompson, Youngsville, was announced the winner of the Jaycee Jr. Citizenship Award.

END OF JOURNEY. The July appearance of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus in Warren was one of the last to be held under the big top.

Shortly after, the circus folded its tent for the last time in Pittsburgh, announcing all future performances would be in large auditoriums.

INAUGURATION BY ABC

Five hours of ABC television and radio on January 21 will cover the ceremonies, parades and Inaugural Ball of Eisenhower's second inauguration. Starting at 11 a. m., the special program will start with the President leaving the White House for the Capitol; the climax of the afternoon will come when he takes the inaugural oath and delivers his address to the nation; and the finale will be an 11 p. m. to midnight peek at hundreds of celebrities and social figures at the Inaugural Ball.

To bring the event into your living room, ABC will have a team of its leading newsmen on the spot, plus more than 150 news specialists, technical personnel and a communication system of 21 cameras linked by hundreds of miles of cable.

LAST CRUSADE

"Crusader", adventure drama starring Brian Keith, will be replaced by CBS on January 4 with a new series, "Mr. Adams and Eve". Ida Lupino and Howard Duff are the husband and wife team in the new spot.

EMMY IN COLOR

NBC-TV will telecast 90-minute spectaculars in color on February 16 and March 16 when the Emmy nominations and awards are made.

HALF-TIME FOR BENNY

Starting in the spring of 1957, Marge and Gower Champion will alternate with Jack Benny on his Sunday night CBS-TV hour.

Recently seen in GE Theater's "Rider On the Pale Horse", the dancing stars will be partners with Benny's J & M Productions in the new series sponsored by American Tobacco Co.

GLIMPSES OF OMNIBUS

ABC's Omnibus on Sunday evening has many faithful followers and good television although it hasn't stayed in the Top Ten bracket. One of its coming attractions is a 90-minute treatment of the Battle of Gettysburg. The angle approached will be 'the tragedy of Gen. Lee and his relationship with his immediate lieutenants'.

Also on the Omnibus schedule are the Greek classic, "Oedipus Rex", starring the young Broadway actor, Christopher Plummer; an analysis of "Courage"; and two or three shows devoted to the working of the U. S. government. Featured in the latter will be Boston attorney Joseph N. Welch who last year took us through the US Constitution.

SPORTS PICTURE

BOWL GAME REMINDERS - Pittsburgh vs. Georgia Tech in the GATOR Bowl with CBS host; Saturday, December 29 at 1:45 p. m. Clemson and Colorado U. in the ORANGE Bowl on New Year's Day, also CBS at 1:45 p. m.

NBC will telecast the COTTON Bowl game between Texas Christian and Syracuse on January 1 at 1:45, followed by the ROSE Bowl game at 4:45 (Oregon State vs. Iowa).

ABC will have the SUGAR Bowl event at 2 o'clock the same afternoon, Tennessee vs. Baylor.

Week-end football will have the BLUE-GRAY classic Saturday afternoon at 1:45, followed by the EAST-WEST Shrine game at 4:45, both by NBC. And the National Pro championship game between the New York Giants and Chicago Bears will be NBC-viewed from Yankee Stadium on Sunday at 2 p. m.

BOXING on NBC's Cavalcade of Sports Friday night will pit Paoli Rossi of Italy against Mexico's Baby Vasquez in a 10-round lightweight bout from Biscayne Arena in Miami, Fla.

Big League NATIONAL HOCKEY will be CBS-televised Saturday afternoons, January 5 through March 9, from 2 to 4:30. In the league are the New York Rangers, Detroit Red Wings, Chicago Black Hawks, Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins. This is the schedule:

January 5 - New York vs. Chicago; January 12 - Detroit vs. New York; January 19 - Chicago vs. Detroit; January 26 - Boston vs. New York; February 2 - New York vs. Detroit; February 9 - Boston vs. Montreal; February 16 - Chicago vs. Boston; February 23 - Chicago vs. Detroit; March 2 - Boston vs. New York; March 9 - Boston vs. Detroit.

A 13-week FLORAL DECORATING SCHOOL will be conducted by John Corbett on WBEN-TV, every Friday afternoon starting December 28. The opener will have floral expert Clark Kennedy to outline the properties necessary for the work of the floral artist, including a detailed list of such needed equipment as pot holders, chemicals, wire, fillers, etc. The January 4 viewer lesson will be "Simple Approach to Floral Decoration". This should be a good series for Garden Clubs.

Actress SUSAN STRASBERG and vocalist EDYIE GORME, with their families, will be interviewed in their New York apartments on Person to Person Friday night.

FRED WARING, his Pennsylvanians and a cast of fifty, together with Charlton Heston and the Will Mastin Trio will be featured on the Jackie Gleason show Saturday evening. Art Carney will take over while Mr. Gleason is on a three-week vacation.

THE PARADINE CASE, an old movie but a good one, will be Channel 4's Saturday night Playhouse attraction. In the cast are Gregory Peck, Charles Laughton, Charles Coburn, Ethel Barrymore, Ann Todd, Louis Jourdan and Valli.

THE SIX NEWSMEN who will take over Tonight under the new format are Hy Gardner of the New York Herald Tribune, Bob Considine of the International News Service, Earl Wilson of the Post-Hall Syndicate, Irving Kupcinet of the Chicago Sun Times, Vern Scott of United Press, and Paul Coates of the Los Angeles Mirror-News. They will bring Tonight from the three cities five nights a week.

Re: old movies. Do you remember the names Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyons? KDKA-TV is resurrecting "Family Affair" on its Big Movie hour, Friday, December 28 at 1 p. m. This might turn out to be a silent flicker!

AMERICAN PREMIERE of War and Peace, a Serge Prokofiev opera, will be televised January 13 by NBC, from 1:30 to 4 p. m. It will be the first performance of the revised version to be given outside the Soviet Union.

EIGHT RECORDING LEADERS will provide Music for Your New Year's Eve, from 9:30 to 10:30, as a switch by Robert Montgomery who usually presents drama. There will be Hugo Winterhalter, Eddie Dano, Teddi King, Ann Gilbert, Eddie Heywood, Dorothy Olsen, the Nite Caps, and Hot Lips Levine.

AND SO TO 1957... Color television? On a large scale it will be no sooner than 1958.

Subscription television? There will be a trial made in at least one area.

More ultra high frequency and a resulting better selection? With NBC spearheading the attack and promoting the sale of sets in areas where it has bought stations, uhf should be hurried along. Needed is tax relief and a definite policy from the FCC. You can expect more VHF stations as a salve.

BETTER FRINGE Reception? Many new mechanical developments have become available and more will be produced in 1957 which should improve both the reception of community lines, individual antennae, and transmitting. In fact, if hundreds of us were not so complacently accepting the picture received on the lines we no doubt would be finding other ways of obtaining results. More minds would be applied to the problem, many more experiments would result, and much more public demand for action at the top, both in the private laboratories and in Washington, would be heard. We are accepting the mediocre too readily, and we will continue to get it as long as we settle for it so amicably.

What can you do? Write any station whose signal is poor. Ask for better reception. Never stop experimenting on a local basis, either by line or on your own. Write the Federal Trade Communication and demand that something be done about the millions who reside in "blind" areas such as ours. The result may be more stations within our range, or methods of relaying a variety of programs, representing all networks.

PLAY TIME 1957

Our crystal ball moves into the Play Time field and the most encouraging note we find is that Warren shows signs of an awakening. The demand for action on the swimming pool and the widely expressed willingness to help build it are strong follow-ups of past meetings and demands.

It takes us back to 1942 when a large meeting was held, attended by representatives of nearly every organization in town, ranging from high school clubs to the YMCA and YWCA. From that meeting came inspired individuals who worked in many ways to stir Warren into action along recreational lines. The seeds were planted and positive steps have resulted.

The recreation problem is not limited to teen-agers. For the same reason that we say the basic trouble with many boys and girls who go wrong is the parents, we find the basic need in recreation is a broad one. The facilities and activities provided should be such that they keep families together.

Playgrounds must be more than outdoor baby sitting. These areas should grow in such a way that the entire family can have fun on them. If not always together, certainly at the same time.

We need a swimming pool, and we may need more tennis courts. We also must do something about ice skating in the average winter when the frost does not get into the ground soon enough to make natural freezing feasible.

But our principal need is co-ordination of what we do have. And what we have ranges through the public playgrounds, the many gymnasiums, the youth canteen, vacant land that can be obtained and is in the process of being obtained.

All of these could be coordinated by a real recreation department under a trained director. Every activity, from our Hot Stove leagues to our thin line of basketball leagues, would be improved. Fun would be more varied, volunteer help would have a consultant available, and scheduling of all kinds, whether it be facilities or league play, would be eased.

A first wee step in this direction may be possible in 1957. There are signs.

We also believe more will be done about the swimming pool than has been accomplished in many years of talk, study, and trying. It may not be completed in 1957, but it would not surprise us if it were done in 1958. But money will be given in 1957, and much groundwork will be done. The school situation should be clarified, and that should help the swimming pool backers, many of whom want to build it with donated funds, but want it to be a combination pool that can be used in all seasons.

In specific sports we see an interesting year. Warren high school has much good material for a big football season, if injuries will stop plaguing the squad. However, we wonder if Coach Fred Bell will be with us. He is a young coach who has come a long way, and he is ambitious along coaching lines. The jobs no doubt are there if he wants them. Regrettably we predict a very great possibility of a head coaching change next fall.

Northern Area will have a big sport year. Its undefeated football team suffered very little through graduation. The Knights were large and fast last year. They should be even larger and faster in 1957. We are told they will play Kane next year. We predict right now that they will beat the Wolves. In fact, we

NEW YEAR

I Thought

BEST wishes for joy and happiness in the New Year. By your thoughtfulness you have helped make the past year an outstanding one for us. Please accept our sincere thanks.

Youngsville National Bank

believe the Knights with an additional season of experience would give Warren a few anxious moments. Sheffield and Youngsville grid futures are hazy. Replacements will play a major roll, and Sheffield will have a new coach.

On the court, most of Warren county will be hard to beat. Warren will spoil most of its opponents' chances of being champions. It is conceivable that Joe Massa's three big boys and two scooters will sneak through with the crown.

Sheffield will be a challenger again. Coach Santo puts emphasis on condition. If you can not keep running at full speed there is a place on the bench for you. His teams run opponents into the floor. Northern Area will be a power in its league. It should win. Youngsville and Tidoute are in for a weak basketball year.

The weather will have a major effect on ice skating. The new Warren courts last year arrived in an unusual winter. As one who has stood with fire hoses in his hand on sub-zero nights, and has seen the resultant ice disappear in the next day's sun, we can assure you that last year's continued freezing and skating was not a mean or mode average on which we can depend.

This winter has started in opposite fashion. And the result may be a demand for brine and pipes. This could be done on the Beaty courts. The pipes would be plastic and would be laid on the surface.

There are disadvantages, but inasmuch as the pipes were not buried in the black top when the courts were built it is the only alternative unless we add more courts and include brine pipes.

Again we predict that 1957 only will create the demand and not the facility. We would settle for such improvements in 1958, and be surprised if given such an opportunity.

In bowling circles we find the Sheffield alleys up for sale. North Warren's lanes will have the fully automatic A.M.F. type of pin-setters in operation. And there is tentative talk of a new house, with twelve lanes and Brunswick fully automatics.

A new golf course near Warren still is very much a possibility. There is interested money if there are enough interested golfers who also are willing to give a few basic dollars, and much time. We would like to see it started in 1957, but you won't be playing on it.

Warren's concert series had a shaky start this year. We believe this series will be continued and that the Junior Chamber of Commerce will come up with an answer to the problem of advance ticket sales. It would be a great loss to Warren if the Jaycees gave up.

For those who have the time, and the money, there will be Chautauqua in the summer with opera, music, drama, and lectures, and there are planes out of Jamestown and Bradford to New York and its variety of entertainment.

We expect all Warren county recreational fields to move forward in 1957, some with immediate results, such as the obvious growth of tennis, others with the creation of a strong base for future advances, such as the swimming pool plans.

COL. C. L. WILLIAMS

Col. Curtis L. Williams, Deputy Judge Advocate of the Second Army, will be guest speaker at the annual recognition dinner of Chief Cornplanter Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The affair will be held at Beaty cafeteria on January 28, when cubmasters, den mothers, scoutmasters, explorer advisors and other volunteer leaders of the council will be recognized.

The featured speaker, a graduate of Oklahoma A. and M. and the University of Oklahoma where he received his degree in Law, started his military career in 1931. He moved rapidly through the ranks and was decorated with the Legion of Merit and Bronze Star medals.

The colonel has been active in scouting during his military career. He was a district commissioner in the Washington, D. C. area and when assigned to Germany as a member of the Judge Advocate Section of the U. S. Army concerned with the Nurnburg Trials, he marshalled the support of his superiors and organized and served as first president of the European Command Council.

Colonel Williams was the first scoutmaster to be awarded the Silver Beaver by the European Command Council after the first four troops organized in his council expanded to a membership of over 7,000 boys in more than 150 units.

BUYERS' CORNER

Let's roll the crystal ball into the Buyers field. The big item in every buyer's life is the dollar. We believe Warren county will have a fair share of these in 1957.

Though many predict a tapering off in prosperity in 1957, we believe Warren plants will have a good year. Most of them are looking to the future and are not sitting back content with what they have. Expansion is common. This suggests that more people will be working in Warren county before 1957 is past than was the case in 1956.

The Sylvania addition on Lexington ave. will employ many people. Sheffield is working hard at selling the glass plant and, if successful, as many as two or three hundred people could find work there.

The National Forge is making a large addition, there is a new plant just west of Warren, the United Refinery is keeping pace with the latest developments in gasoline and oil production, and in fact is a bit ahead of most competitors.

The Warren Chamber of Commerce has become the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce and work along county lines already has been started. A survey of the area, with financial help from the state, is in the making. At least one neighboring town is seeking state help also, and as many as two new plants may result.

Other steps that will affect the dollar is the addition of motel facilities, and a study of the housing problem. If a tangible step is taken to relieve the housing situation it will mean money for the builders and homes for new workmen.

As for the importance of motels to replace the lost Carver Hotel, we now find the traveling dollar going elsewhere. Salesmen, plant servicing personnel, and other visitors who are vitally important to our industrial life must hurry in and out of Warren. Most of them find no place to stay. Not even a small percentage of the money we pay them for their work and their products is left here in room and board payments. We consider it a blind spot on the part of local businessmen when they failed to act positively and immediately following the hotel fire.

But the motels gradually will eat into the problem, though it may take much time, and the dollar is not so ready for motel investments which have a high rate of bankruptcy to accompany their continued phenomenal growth.

A sign of prosperity for the employe is to be found in one major industry. We are told it will increase its wage scale about twenty per cent. This will be topped by a four per cent bonus.

Then there is talk of plant sales. One major plant in town is expected to change hands in 1957. The effect on its employes may be a bit greater than usually is the case.

Prosperity in area communities will change very little. Sheffield could enjoy the greatest change if it can find a buyer for its empty plant. Tidouste seems destined to be a residential community, with a minor boom enjoyed during the summer vacation period as the river becomes a growing attraction for camps and vacationers. Youngsville already enjoys good times, though there are some in Youngsville who talk of looking for more industry and more growth.

If you own a plant in Warren county, 1957 is not discouraging. If you are a workman and have a reasonable amount of seniority, you should not be concerned about time payments for the things you want if you are well budgeted within your regular time pay.

We may see some quieting of the boom, but the hustlers will do reasonably well in 1957.

As we pause to review the past year's accomplishments and achievements, we are reminded of your loyal support which has contributed to much of our progress. We are grateful for your confidence and loyalty and wish for you a Joyous Season.

OUTDOORS

Let's sight through the 1957 crystal ball for hunting and fishing forecasts. In the case of fishing we can be quite official about our predictions. Some of the greatest changes in the history of fishing will be effected this year. In the field of hunting we can only guess.

Let's guess first. We believe the recent buck season will reveal that we shot less than in 1955. And the quality of the bucks does not increase. Obviously we have too many deer. This situation will not be remedied until we open the season on both bucks and does. The result will be a better herd and much better racks.

However, this is too radical for Pennsylvania in 1957. Whoever or whatever controls the thinking of the Pennsylvania Game Commission probably will block such a change again, despite the recommendations of authorities on the subject, and plenty of proof in areas where it has been tried.

However, we believe there will be a limited doe season in 1957.

In small game hunting we anticipate no radical changes, and we are sure that the supply in all lines will be plentiful, barring seasonal feeding and breeding problems.

As for fishing, 1957 will see a new approach to this sport. Except for trout you can catch most any fish in most any month, and the minimum size restriction is disappearing in some cases, such as bass. Bass can be caught from January 1 to the middle of March, and from the middle of June to March 15, 1958.

Perhaps you would like to read a few excerpts from the fish commission's current release.

"For the first time since before the turn of the century when fishing regulations were first effected in this State, all fish except trout from the open waters of the Commonwealth may be taken by our fishermen during the early weeks of the year," says William Voigt, Jr., Executive Director of the Commission.

Also emphasized was the simplification and uniformity of size, season, creel limits and other regulations attained for the Delaware River, Lake Erie and Pymatuning Lake as a result of conferences with the fisheries administrators of New Jersey, New York and Ohio.

Following are the size, season, creel limits and regulations, in part, applicable to the inland waters of Pennsylvania for 1957:

Trout (except lake or salmon) - 5:00 a. m., April 15 to midnight September 2; minimum size, 6 inches; daily limit, 8.

Trout (lake or salmon) - same as above except there will be no minimum size, and the season closes November 30.

Bass (largemouth and smallmouth) - January 1 to midnight March 14, and June 15 to midnight March 15, 1958; no minimum size; daily limit, 6 combined species.

Pickrel (pikeperch, Walleye or Susquehanna salmon) - open year around; minimum size, 12 inches; daily limit, 6 each species (2 pikeperch only through ice).

Pike (great northern) - open year around; minimum size, 12 inches; daily limit, 6.

Frogs - July 2 to midnight October 31; no minimum size; daily limit, 25; season limit, 50. It is unlawful to take frogs by use of an artificial light.

Tadpoles - July 2 to midnight October 31; no minimum size; daily limit, 25.

Terrapin (red leg) - November 2 to midnight March 14, 1958; no minimum size; daily limit, 5; season limit, 50.

All species not specifically mentioned above are classed as food fish and may be taken at any time of year, in any number or size, by approved means as set forth in the Pennsylvania Fish Laws.

Possession Limit: It is illegal to have in possession at any time more than two days limit of the following species: Trout, all species; Bass, largemouth and smallmouth; Pikeperch, (walleye or Susquehanna Salmon); Pickrel, Muskellunge, Great Northern Pike.

Fishing in drawn down waters: Failure to observe "No Fishing" posters on any waters drawn down under proper permit shall subject the offender to arrest and a fine of $20.

Bait-fish and Fish-bait: The use of lamprey eels for bait in any of the inland waters is prohibited... A bait-fish or fish-bait container used by more than one fisherman while fishing must be sectionalized with no more than the legal possession limit for one fisherman retained in each section.

Rowing boats for fishermen: A person rowing a boat while another in that boat is fishing is considered to be aiding the fisherman, therefore must possess a fishing license. (Delaware River excepted).

Trolling from motor boats: Trolling from motor boats is permissible on all waters of the Commonwealth on which motors are allowed.

The United States gained the sovereignty of the canal strip at Panama by the Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty of November 18, 1903.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby

Scrooge Set To Music

"The Stingiest Man In Town" is a musical about a penny-pincher who thinks Christmas is humbug, whose avarice wrecks his only romance and who is finally led to see the ruinous course of his life by a trio of spirits on Christmas Eve. Whereupon he undergoes a monstrous transformation of personality and character rivalling that of St. Paul.

If all this reminds you of a story by Charles Dickens named "A Christmas Carol", it's because the musical was based on just that story and brought to NBC television last Sunday night. I suppose it was inevitable. Since Shakespeare and Shaw and Voltaire have suddenly been discovered to be essentially librettists, somebody was bound sooner or later to cast Dickens in that role, too. I only wish they'd picked a gayer story like -- well -- "Oliver Twist." ("I Bludgeoned Nancy Sykes To Death" would make a nice catchy song, I think.)

Actually, "The Stingiest Man, etc." was not a bad show but it was by no means an inspired one. Throughout its hour and a half length, you got the feeling that composer Fred Spielman and lyricist Janice Torre had been summoned in and ordered to convert "A Christmas Carol" into a musical, that they labored earnestly in this cause but their hearts weren't really in it. "An Old Fashioned Christmas", "Listen To The Song Of The Christmas Spirit" and "It Might Have Been" are not bad songs but, both in melody and lyric, they are awfully obvious; they don't, in short, contain those little surprises that a good tune and lyric have to have to sweep you with them.

Some of the other songs - "Repent In Time", "One Little Boy", "Mankind Should Be My Business" - are the sort of songs that seem to be always on the verge of bursting into melody but never quite do. Basil Rathbone as Scrooge gave a performance that was pure grease-paint; the quivering lips and palsied limbs and hunched shoulders would have gone down splendidly if this were a ballet but they were a bit too much for a dramatic role, particularly one that close to the cameras.

Patrice Munsel, as a girl who loses out to avarice, and Robert Weede, as the defunct Marley, both have voices of some renown but neither were given much opportunity to use them. Actually, Vic Damone, as the young Scrooge, and Johnny Desmond, as Scrooge's nephew, possess singing styles considerably more appropriate to the kind of music in "Stingiest Man".

I am a man of almost unbounded admiration for Dickens except around Christmas time when my admiration gets a little bounded by "A Christmas Carol" which has been done once or twice too often. Heaven only knows where this passion for turning everything into musicals is going to land us. Now that Dickens has fallen to the lyricists, there isn't much left. Any day I expect "War And Peace" to become a musical extravaganza with the battle of Borodino reduced to a ballet by Agnes de Mille. ("Every Man Has His Waterloo And Moscow Was Mine" would be a nice song for Napoleon.)

More and more music is making itself felt on television but the book show - the show with plot as well as songs - still seems to elude the boys. I've had a good deal more fun watching the informal shows starring Dinah Shore. Miss Shore is an entertainer of warm personality and great experience and by wise selec-

QUEEN ANN, her court, and two admirers. Lovely Ann Mosberg, chosen Queen of the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena on New Year's Day, beams happily from her throne amidst her court of six Princesses -- all finalists in the competition that began with more than 2,000 entries.

Admiring the royal beauty are a couple of devoted subjects, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, who will assist CBS Newsman Charles Collingwood in reporting the two-hour Tournament of Roses Parade which will be broadcast in its entirety over the CBS Television Network Tuesday, Jan. 1.

the 8th Air Force in England, with General Carl Spaatz (left), then Chief of Staff of the Army Air Force, will narrate the "Air Power" program entitled "The 1930's on CBS

Television, Sunday, Dec. 30, 6:30-7:00 PM, EST.

"The 1930's" is the story of a generation that had "a rendezvous with destiny" and the related story of the development of the Air Force's B-17 Flying Fortress.

The program covers the depression era, the rise of world dictators and the advent of isolationism.

tion of songs and, above all, guests, she is presenting shows that seem perfectly tailored for the medium.

Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say perfectly tailored for this particular phase of the medium - since television crazes come and go awfully fast. Originally there was Milton Berle, a comic, interjecting himself into the dog acts, the monologues and the tumbling acts of a sort of overgrown vaudeville show. Now Perry Como and Miss Shore, both singers, are doing pretty much the same thing, though not, of course, so aggressively.

Ray Bolger, whose show "Washington Square" was pretty labored at first, is getting closer and closer to the right formula, too, a mixture of personality and talent and devil take the plot line. "Washington Square" now has moments of great brightness and charm, though once in awhile suffering from overdoses of cuteness.

In Brief

HALF WAY THERE. The Warren County Probation Association has passed the half way mark in its 1956 campaign to add $5,000 to its Permanent Endowment Fund, it was reported at this week's meeting of the Warren Rotary Club.

The Warren County Probation Association was organized in 1954 as a Golden Anniversary Project of the Warren Rotary Club. Each year the Rotary Club has conducted a campaign to build up the Permanent Endowment Fund of the Probation Association. This fund is held by The Warren Foundation, Inc. The income is returned to the Warren County Probation Association and paid over to the Warren County Commissioners.

Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., Chairman of the Children's Committee of the Warren Rotary Club, reported that to date donations totaling $2,645.30 have been received in this year's campaign. He complimented the members of the Rotary Club and stated that more than one half of the prospective donors are still to be heard from. Judge Flick also stated that, in order to accommodate those persons or organizations desiring to make gifts in the calendar year 1957, the campaign would be extended after the first of the year.

A BUSINESS CHANGE is being effected in Youngsville where Kenneth Hannold, of that community, is buying into the Youngsville Floral Gardens, now owned by Roy H. McDowell. Mr. McDowell will continue in the business for one year. After that Mr. Hannold, who now works at the National Forge and Ordnance, will be the sole owner. The Youngsville Floral Gardens, located on West Main st., has been a fixture in Youngsville for many years, and is one of the leading greenhouses in this area.

ESCAPES INJURY. A 53-year-old Titusville woman escaped injury at 11:20 p.m. Saturday when her car left the highway and struck a telephone pole seven miles south of Warren on Route 62. The operator was Neva Bright.

Damage to the auto was estimated at $500.

A RECKLESS DRIVING charge was placed against Frank Dodge, of Clarendon Heights, following a two-car mishap that occurred at 4:35 p.m. Thursday in the 1800 block of Pennsylvania ave., E.

According to reports Dodge was proceeding west on the avenue, cut over into the wrong lane and struck a vehicle driven by Joseph Solock, 3 Center st., Warren.

Solock received treatment for bruises about the head and legs, while Dodge acquired a broken nose and ribs. Damage to both autos was approximately $2500.

THERE WERE FEW displays in Warren this year, and most of them were industrial. Here is a rare exception, seen on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cleveland, Division st.

WET CHRISTMAS. It was a dark, before Christmas. But inside Warren county homes everyone was snug and warm. It was a good holiday for most of us, and even a little snow arrived to provide at least a touch of the wanted color on Tuesday.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL SITE? Within the outlined area lies the Swick property on which many wish to build the new Warren area high school. The lines are not exact but they approximately cover the upper flat actually owned by the Swick family. Beyond this and to the left, hidden by the trees, is much clear flat land that also is available. The Warren Area Joint School Board approved a new high school on a new site, probably in this area. Definite action is expected in 1957.

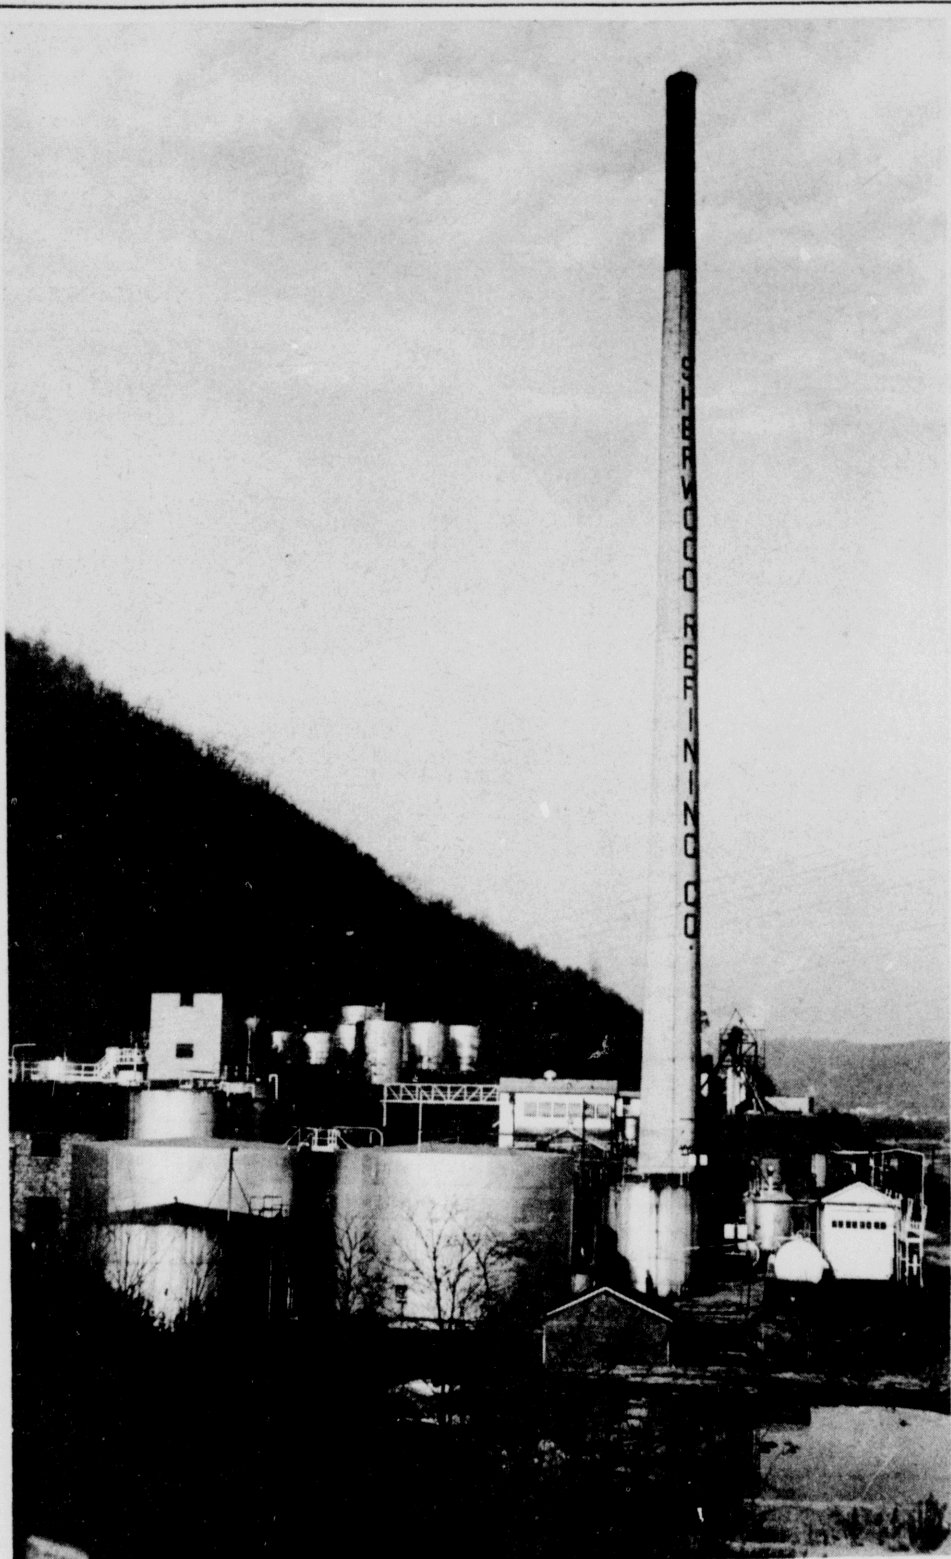

INNUNDATED. This is the West Side on March 8, 1956. Its plants, stores, and homes are in the middle of a large lake. It is believed that between 400 and 500 homes in many portions of Warren were emptied by the flood, and many of the occupants were removed by boats or trucks. Some stayed with their homes and had food trucked in. A sudden change to cold weather on the afternoon of March 8 stopped the rise. With plenty of snow still in the mountains, more rain and warm weather could have proved a major catastrophe.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR LOSS. An early morning fire on September 6 destroyed the Eichenlaub of Pittsburgh warehouse in Youngsville. It was a four-story frame building constructed in 1898 and was used to house institutional and hospital supplies. The loss was estimated at one-half million dollars.

MAD WATER. A typical shot of the damaging flash floods that struck a number of sections in the Warren area in July and August was this "mad water" scene on Locust st. in the Glade Run sector.

SOLD. In early January the sale of the Sherwood Refining plant to Louis Segel and Son was announced. The price was not disclosed.

DROPPED SERVICE. Effective September 30, 1956, Warren's funeral directors quit their ambulance service. They were Lutz-VerMil-yea, Peterson, Templeton and Gibson. Volunteer fire departments in North Warren, Russell and Youngs-ville, and a local independent have taken over the service along with funeral directors in Sheffield and Sugar Grove.

OPERATION ALERT. The Civil Defense headed up Operation Alert --1956 in Warren. During the mock air raid drill, students from East Street school marched to the basement of the Warren Apartment garage and remained there until the all-clear was sounded. We should be thankful the drills of 1956 were all mock.

RETIRED. E. W. Patchen, left, founder of Patchens Market in 1912, retired from business on September 1st. He is pictured with his son, G. J. Patchen, who also left the business along with his father.

REFINERY BLAZE. At 12:45 a.m. Friday, October 5, fire of an undetermined origin broke out at the main plant of the United Refining Co., causing damage to tankage and piping in the rundown area. Only a small amount of semi-finished products was lost.

CLOSE SHAVE. A severe July 1st storm brought this huge tree down on top of a 1956 Olds convertible at the corner of Liberty st. and Fourth ave. in Warren. The driver, Frank M. Nichols, Jr., narrowly escaped death as he waited for a traffic light.

DRAGONS SNARE FIFTH

The Youngsville high Eagles flew over here Friday night and bombarded Warren in two periods, enough to hold the locals' victory margin to 62-55. In an earlier session Warren clobbered the Red and White 58-29.

After going ahead 22-10 in the opening stanza, the Massamenfound the Eagles flying right back to cut the difference to 30-23 mid-way. Warren again surged ahead to a 15-point advantage in the third with 19 counters, but again suffered from a 21-point Youngsville attack in the finale that cut the margin to a low seven points.

Ed Rickerson and Dick Danielson, the big and the small, found the nets for 20 and 17 marks respectively to lead Warren's fifth consecutive win. Jim Smith and John McCanna took the laurels for Youngsville with 13 and 12.

This Friday evening Coach Joe Massa's team will be after an Alumni squad consisting of John and Tom Trussler, Don Nelson, Dick Mancuso, John Harrington and Jeff Homan. Next will be a Section Two opener with Meadville on Beaty court January 4.

STYLISTS ELIMINATED

The Warren Style Shop quintet was knocked out of the opening round of the annual Jamestown YMCA Christmas Invitational tournament Saturday, when they lost 69-59 to the Friendly Grill. It was no fault of Ron Isackson, however, as the Gannon College star home for vacation ripped the cords for 34 points and the night's honors.

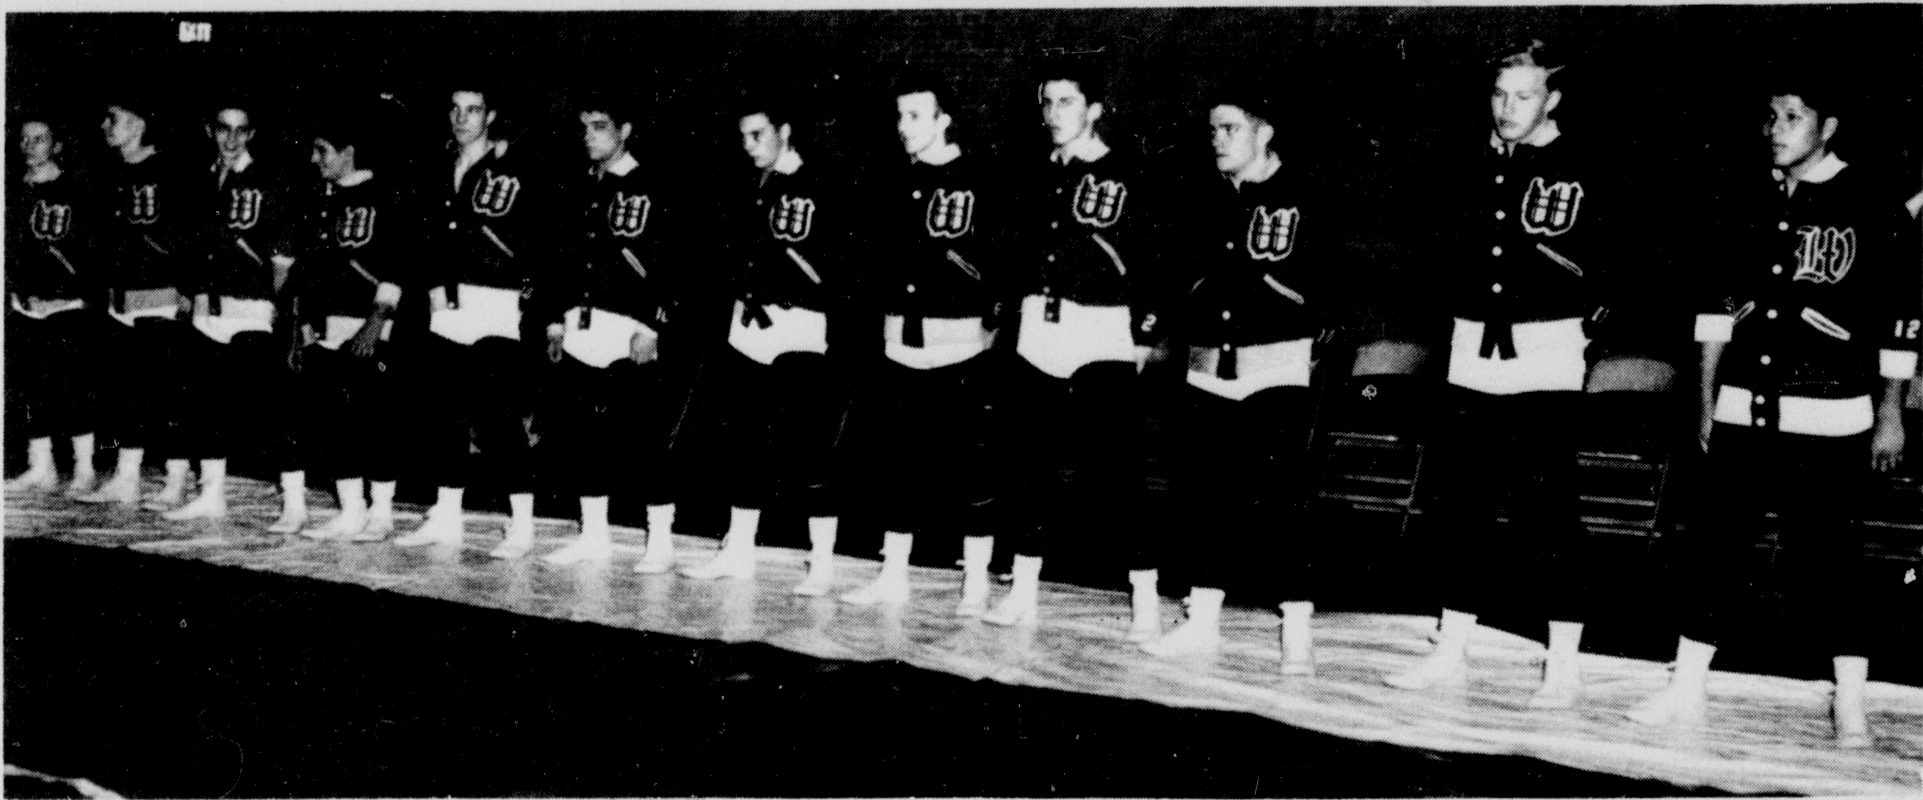

Elsewhere in the Warren lineup Dick Christensen tallied 13 and Hud Berdine 10 points.

DRAGON MATEMEN WIN

Coach Harold Miller and his Dragon matmen scored an overwhelming 41-8 victory over Gowanda on the Beaty mats last Thursday night. The fast moving 127-pounder, Mickey Kondak, headlined the lineup with the match's only first period fall.

Other pins for Warren were scored by Larry Campbell, Gail Page, Bruno Zaffino and Don Brian. Decisions went to Bill Cummings, Bruce Trevenen, Harry Brooker, Iver Stenberg and Ron Bowen. Steve Pearson and Jay Benze lost their matches.

On Thursday, January 3, the Warren grapplers journey to Titusville.

AREA CAGE SCORES

Warren high's Dragons remained undefeated with a 62-55 win over Youngsville. At the same time Friday Corry suffered its first season loss to Millcreek by 57-37, after taking the McDowell high boys 46-43 earlier. Meadville lost its third in seven starts to Sharon 62 to 45.

Northern Area nipped Sherman 51-38, Randolph clobbered Tidioute 70-51, Port Allegany handed Emporium a 52-44 defeat, Ridgway was successful over Sykesville 46-44, and Johnsonburg suffered its seventh straight loss to Brockway 65-43. In the Elkers game, Buhite pushed in the winning bucket and continued his hot scoring pace with 27 points.

Erie Tech knocked off Academy 57-54, as Prep took East 56-43. Kane dropped St. Marys 50-39, little but strong, Fredonia scored a big one over Hickory 49-44, Mercer clipped New Wilmington 70-52, Lakeview upset Greenville 62-41, Smethport defeated Bradford St. Bernards for the second time 62-26, Brookville trounced DuBois 51-43, and Punxsutawney shut off Curwensville 59-15.

KNIGHTS CLIP SHERMAN

Northern Area's cage team got back on the win trail Friday night by downing Sherman, N. Y., 51-38, on the Eisenhower hardwood. After an even ball game the first half, Bud Rowland, in the role of king with 25 points, led the Knights to the triumph.

Friday night the NA floormen will entertain an Alumni quintet.

GRA-Y LOOP ACTION

Three games were played in the Gra-Y cage circuit during the past week to put things in full swing. Last Thursday Home Street nipped North Warren 24-18 as Gaghan and Shoenfeld teamed up to tally 19 points. Wick was tops for NW with nine.

On the "Y" court Saturday McClintock laced Lacy 30 to 15, while East Street blasted Sugar Grove by a 34-2 margin. The West Siders' win was sparked by Creola and his 18 points. Bruce Lawton starred in East's game by racking up 20 counters.

In the standings Jefferson and East have 1-0; Home, McClintock and Sugar Grove have split 1-1; while Lacy and North Warren both lost their single games.

This week's slate shows McClintock at North Warren on Thursday, 7:00; Home Street and Lacy at the YMCA, Saturday, 12:15; and East Street and Jefferson at the "Y", Saturday, 6:30.

VARSITY GRAPPLERS. As the Alma Mater plays, Warren high matmen stand at attention.

Y-CITY CAGE PLAY

A pair of games provided Y-City league action on the "Y" floor Thursday night with Emerson's emerging a close 74-73 victor over Bova's Barber Shop and the Unknowns more prominent because of a 69-44 whipping they handed Guiffre's.

After trailing 42-27 at the half, Bova's five turned hot and made a real contest of the game by out-pointing Emerson's 46 to 32 in the last two frames. The loser's comeback was headed by Dick Hartnett, who tallied 33 points. Bob Reese pushed the winners with 28.

The Unknowns started fast with a 22-4 advantage scored in the first stanza, and then rolled from there. Brooker hit the rims for 19 to lead the win.

NEW CAGE LEAGUE

The newly organized Church Basketball league will open in Warren on Thursday, January 3, with five teams participating.

Churches and coaches sponsoring the teams are First Presbyterian, Dr. Larry Krespan and Willis Lundahl; Grace Methodist, Sonny Cole and E. Rader; First Methodist, Jack Clarkson and Robert Tucker; St. Paul's Lutheran, Chuck Reese; and First Baptist, Gerry Archibald.

The first round schedule is January 3, Baptist gym -- Baptist vs. Presbyterian, St. Paul's vs. Grace; January 10, Grace gym -- Grace vs. First Methodist, Presbyterian vs. St. Paul's; January 17, Baptist gym -- First Methodist vs. Presbyterian, Baptist vs. St. Paul's; January 24, Grace gym -- Baptist vs. First Methodist, Grace vs. Presbyterian; January 31, Baptist gym -- Baptist vs. Grace, St. Paul's vs. First Methodist.

Games start at 7:00 and the public is invited.

PRELIM ATTRACTION

While the Dragons of Warren high will be shooting for their sixth straight win of the season against the Alumni on Beaty court Friday night, just as big an attraction will be the preliminary contest between the vacationing Collegians (and ex-collegians) and the independent Style Shop combination.

Among the players to be featured on the college squad will be George Hesch, a member of the Erie Pros and assistant coach at Gannon College in Erie, Bob Wilson, Harry Danielson, Chuck Reese, Bruce Duell, Bob Harrington, Jerry Gordon, Mike Kotmair, Dick Koebley, Bill Massa and Bob Koebley. Standing up against this versatile SIX POINTS. Mickey Kondak scored six points for Warren when he pinned Gowanda's Don Gates in the first period. The fall followed this half-successful body slam.

SHORT WEEK

It may have been a slim week for bowling scores but Will Schaffer put together a series that would look good in any seven days. He fired a 638 to lead the Junior Industrial and the week's parade.

Stub McMichael had 594 in the Merchants loop. Pete Nichols topped the K of C American with 583.

NATIONAL SCENE

Angela Mica, of St. Louis, is having a big season. She recently moved into the high spot in the nation with 787. But Angela really tuned up for it. She had 701 and 723 in the league play the two previous weeks!

Her 787 was a world's record for organized lady league bowling. Her games were 239, 279, and 269. Her league average? She started the season with a 279 game and a 669 series. Her average is 212!

The women's WIBC tournament in 1958 is moving west. It will be fired in San Francisco, on the longest string of lanes in Northern California, the 40-lane Downtown Bowl.

No 300 games have been registered by lady kglers this season. But Ann Marshall of Milwaukee came close. She had 299. Virginia Waller of Chicago is next with 298.

ASIDES

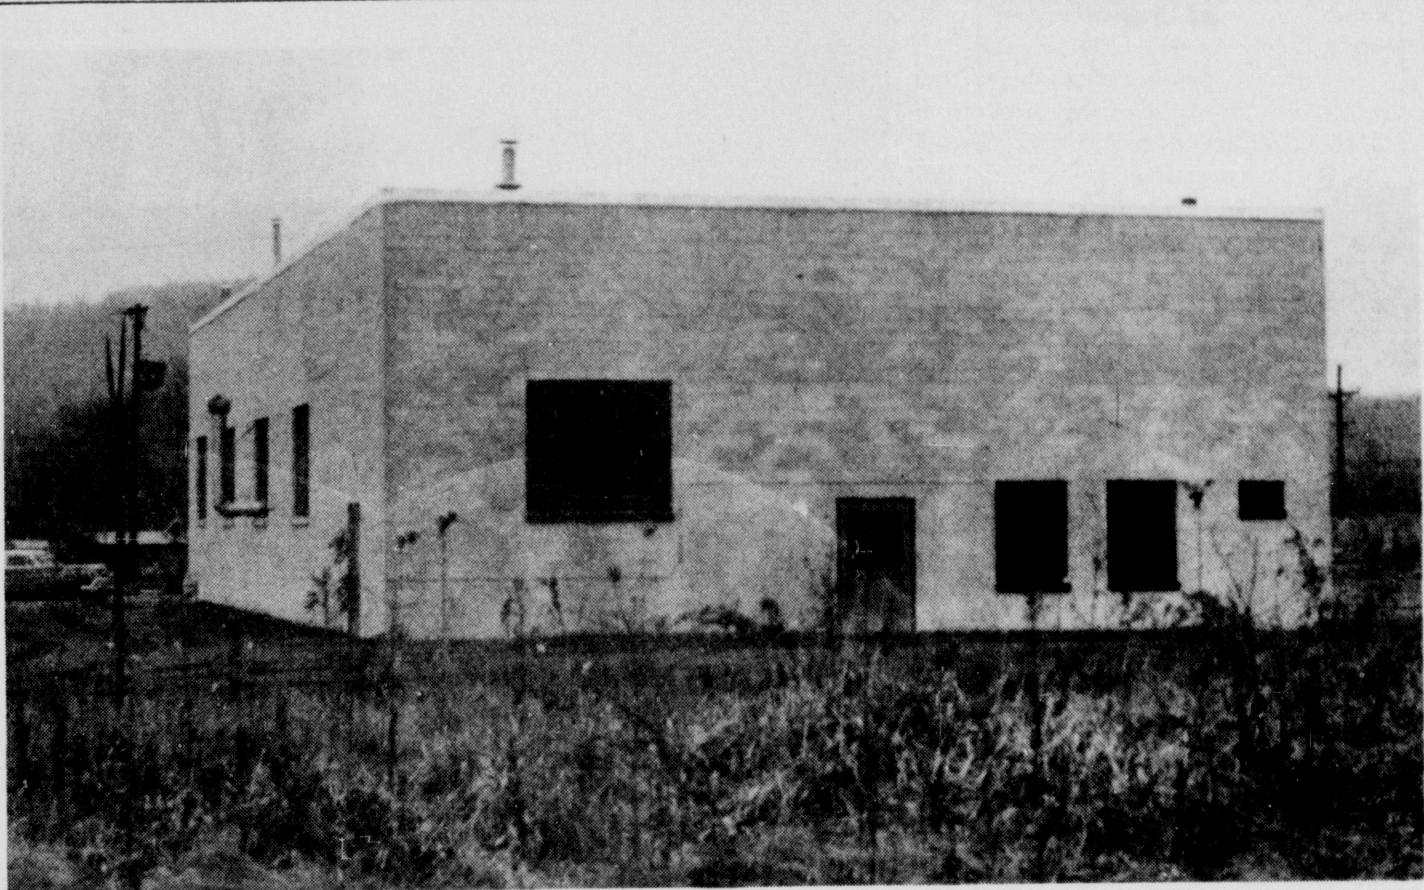

THE STRANGEST PLACE to Find a Happy Family is the title of a feature appearing in the January issue of Redbook. It involves the family of Dr. Norman and Maritza Morgan, and pictures them and their four children in their wide variety of activity. The thought seems to be that in this day when we are making so much of family background as the reason for trouble with young people, it is encouraging to find a happy family living in the confines of a mental hospital. Dr. Morgan is director of clinical psychiatry at the Warren State hospital.

THE MOST UNUSUAL Christmas card received by us was one including the First Christmas Gifts, gold, frankincense, and myrrh. These were included in three small transparent boxes, mounted on a printed card.

THE MOST UNUSUAL gift received must have been the mink-tailed duster. This was a very fancy affair, with three mink tails secured on one end of a fancy handle to be used to dust the pretzel crumbs off your bar. We assume they were for such an area because on the other end was a bottle opener.

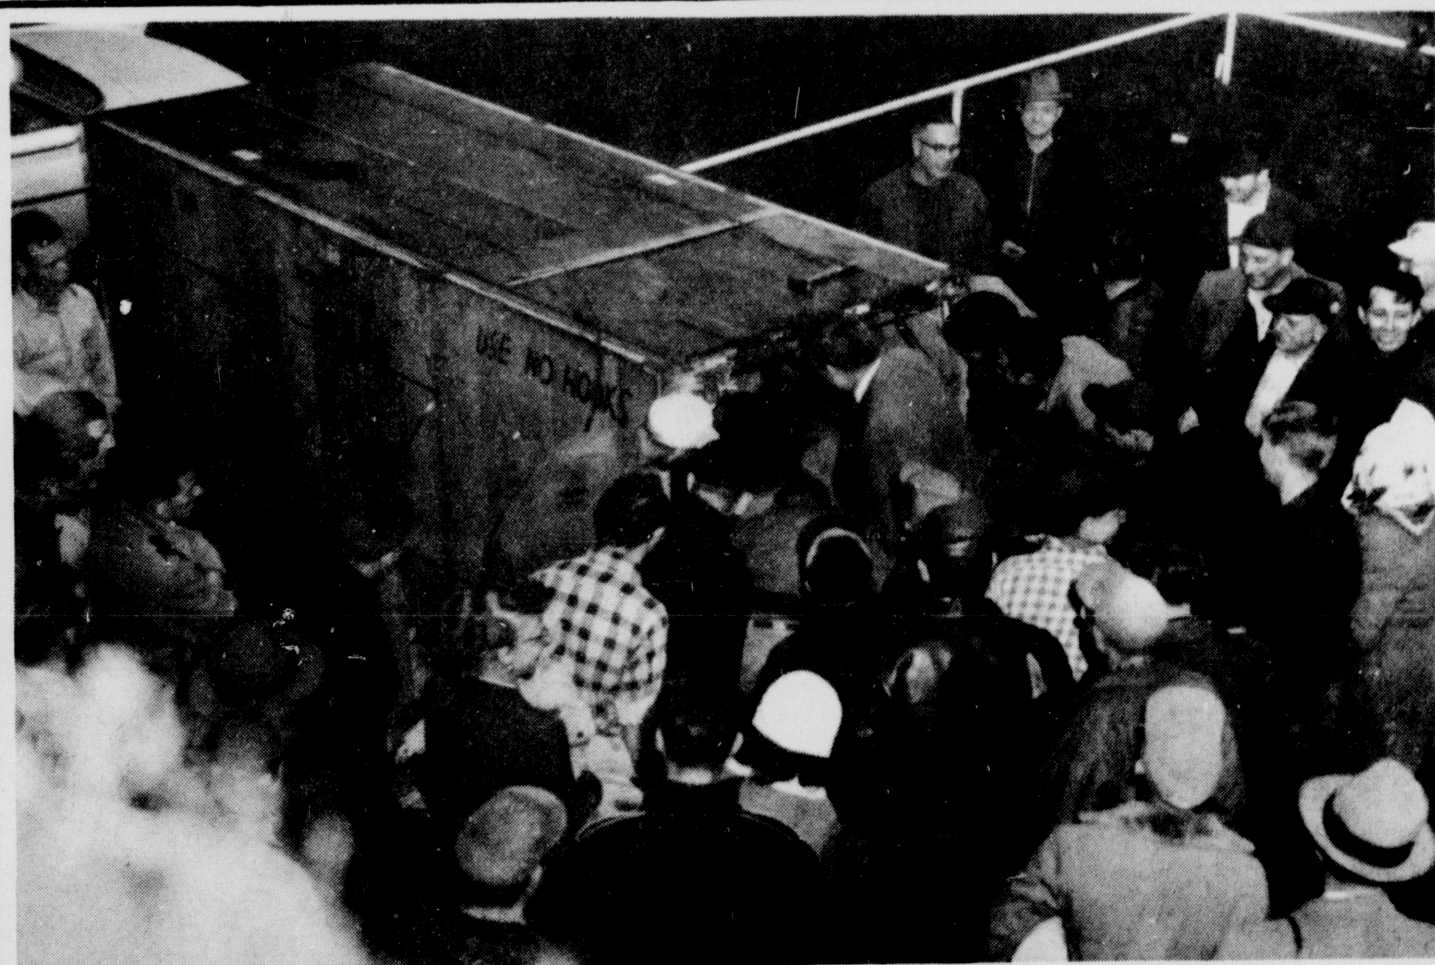

OUR FUTURE was laid before us by a present in the shape of an 8 ball. Ask it a question, count to ten, and turn it over. There you read the answer. If our mystic ball predictions do not materialize, you'll know why. (He can count to ten?)

By accepting good advice, you're increasing your own ability.

IN OPERATION, The new Warren Manufacturing Co. has completed its Starbrick building and been in operation for some time now. Five men are employed at the present to assemble such items as turn signals and truck lights.

The new structure is 50 by 100 by 22 feet in size.

WHO WON? DeLuxe Metal employees gathered around Al Amos' mystery Christmas package Friday afternoon to see who was the winner of the guessing contest.

A bond was put up for the winner. Four came close and will draw from a hat to make the final decision.

SURPRISE PACKAGE. This little Crosley station wagon turned out to be the contents of the 2,000-pound mystery Christmas package received by Al Amos, plant manager at DeLuxe Metal.

The gift was sent to the plant $75 (collect) by the Rayhaven Equipment Co. in Detroit.

Civil Rights Opponents
Seek Local Jury Support

By Doris Flesoon

WASHINGTON -- A small liberal coalition of Northern and Western Democrats plus Eisenhower Republicans will open the new Congress with an effort to clear the way for enactment of civil rights legislation.

The conservative coalition of Mid-west Republicans and Southern Democrats dominant in Congress since 1938 has announced its opposition. This group has the votes. Since its members admit they also have the will, they are bound to prevail.

One thing only can alter this prospect. It is for President Eisenhower to mobilize public opinion and to intervene directly and personally with Congress. Nothing in his record as President suggests that he will pursue such a course.

The cover for the iron determination of the conservative coalition to maintain its grip on Congress will be a legalistic argument over whether the Senate is a continuing body. This is merely a convenient mask to conceal the private motives of Senators.

The fact is, however, that except for its power as a symbol, Federal civil rights legislation is as out-moded as bloomers. Barring abolition of the poll tax, what Congress is asked to do in current civil rights programs would alter very little the pattern of American life.

Congressional refusal to act on what appears to be a moral principle injures this nation in the other three-fourths of the world whose people are not white. But if all current civil rights legislation proposed by either party became law, the lives of most Americans, white or colored, would be little affected.

The Supreme Court, unaided, in a series of decisions during the last decade has gone far beyond any proposal ever made to Congress in the field of civil rights. That is why the real brains behind the South's effort to maintain its crumbling segregation pattern are concentrating their attack on the Federal courts.

The real battle, as distinct from the windmill tilting in Washington, opens Jan. 19 next in the courtroom of Federal Judge Robert Love Taylor in Knoxville, Tenn. There defendants from Clinton, Tenn., accused of contempt of court for Judge Taylor's injunction against interference with school integration at Clinton, will be tried.

It is a trial for which the South has long been preparing. In essence the attempt which will be made in Knoxville is to force all trials involving segregation into the hands of juries. The fairly secure assumption is of course that Southern juries, susceptible to the pressures of their environment, will not convict defendants opposing segregation by whatever means.

"A woman makes up her mind and her face several times a day, and is seldom satisfied with the results of either."—Glenn Bunnell.

Press And Public Shut Off From Washington

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON. -- Federal government at its highest level here in the national capital is getting more and more insulated from the people.

Fewer and fewer avenues are open to the generally recognized means of contact between government and its citizens in a democracy -- newspapers, magazines, radio, television.

This insulation was encouraged by the need for secrecy during war, by the "sheer size of the Federal government," and by the number of confidential relations between government and citizen, as pointed out by James Russell Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post, in a new book, "Freedom or Secrecy," which treats of this increasingly vexing problem.

The inquiring citizen and inquiring reporter "is no longer met by employees eager to explain what the government is doing," he says. "Government employees in the agencies dealing with the most routine civilian functions of government frequently give the impression of being on guard. The natural curiosity of citizens inspires suspicion. There is a chill in the place of the easy accessibility of even 25 years ago."

How apt is his diagnosis can be testified by any long-time reporter of government here.

It seems pertinent to explore the problem at this time because the executive branch of our government will continue to be conducted by the same general management under which this insulation has been intensified in the last four years, though it had its beginnings in previous administrations.

The insulation is the harder to tear down because the Eisenhower Administration has been protected as has none other in this century, and it comes back into power with support from the overwhelming preponderance of the avenues of information, including newspapers and magazines.

In short, the tendency to challenge and question the conduct of government, traditionally the mission of newspapers, has been greatly lessened. Upon the media of information the public had come to rely to take the initiative in breaking down the barriers between it and government. This is being done by committees of the press here and there, but on the whole the initiative incumbent upon the newspapers and other media seems lacking in force.

Perhaps another reason for the general acceptance of the insulation is that the new generation of news-gatherers working here has no knowledge of the open doors that were available hereabouts before World War II. The closed-door policy apparently seems normal and natural to them.

That is far from the case. The last Republican management of government before the Eisenhower Administration -- the Harding-Coolidge-Hoover era from 1921 to 1933 -- is, in retrospect, a goldfish bowl compared with what we confront today.

Every Cabinet officer every week had two news conferences at which he could be grilled freely about everything that went on in his department. And lower officials were always available.

That continued into the Roosevelt Administration in which, too, Franklin D. Roosevelt opened up his twice-weekly news conferences with free-for-all oral questions in a real cross-examination.

During the previous Republican regimes, 1921-'33, written questions had to be submitted in advance to the President, which he would or would not answer as he pleased. Reporters were given no right to raise their voices in direct oral questions.

This system was put into effect by President Warren G. Harding because of a faux pas he made one day in discussing foreign policy which brought Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes running in protest, his beard all a quiver. The written question system continued until President Roosevelt opened up the press conference to the free-for-all that it is today.

President Truman reduced the White House news conferences to one a week and, during World War II, there were fewer news conferences with Cabinet officers.

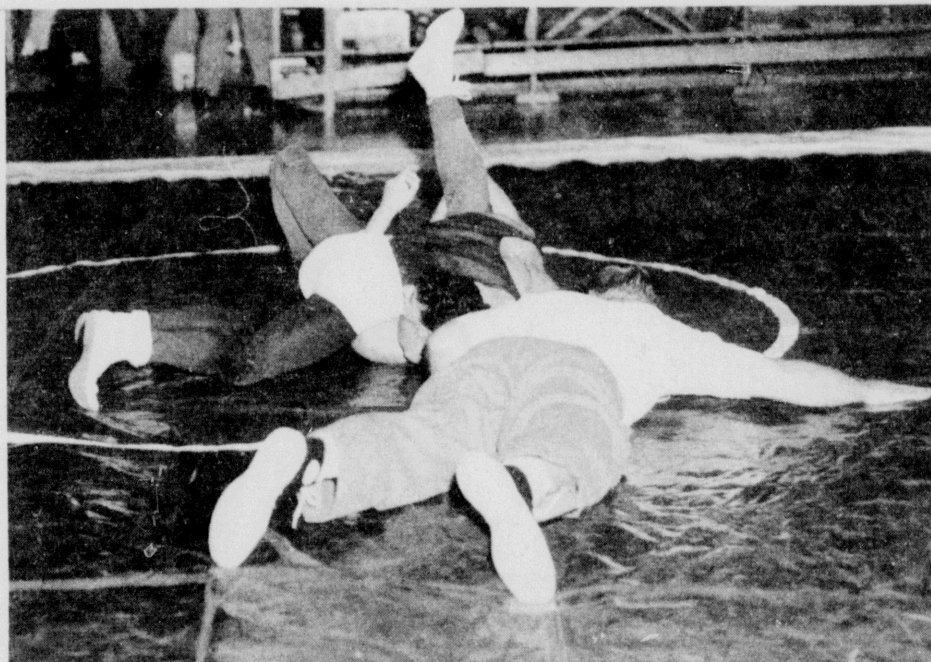

In the Eisenhower Administration, news conferences with the President are on a very irregular basis. As for Cabinet members, only two meet the press in a general news conference with any regularity -- Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, once a week, and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, less often.

With the eight others, weeks pass without newspapermen ever seeing them. The only way you know they are still around is through the social columns. Some Cabinet officers occasionally see individual newspaper and radio-television representatives in private interviews.

MUSIC TOO. Something new has been added to Warren high's wrestling matches at Beaty gym -- namely this all-male band directed by Harry Summers.

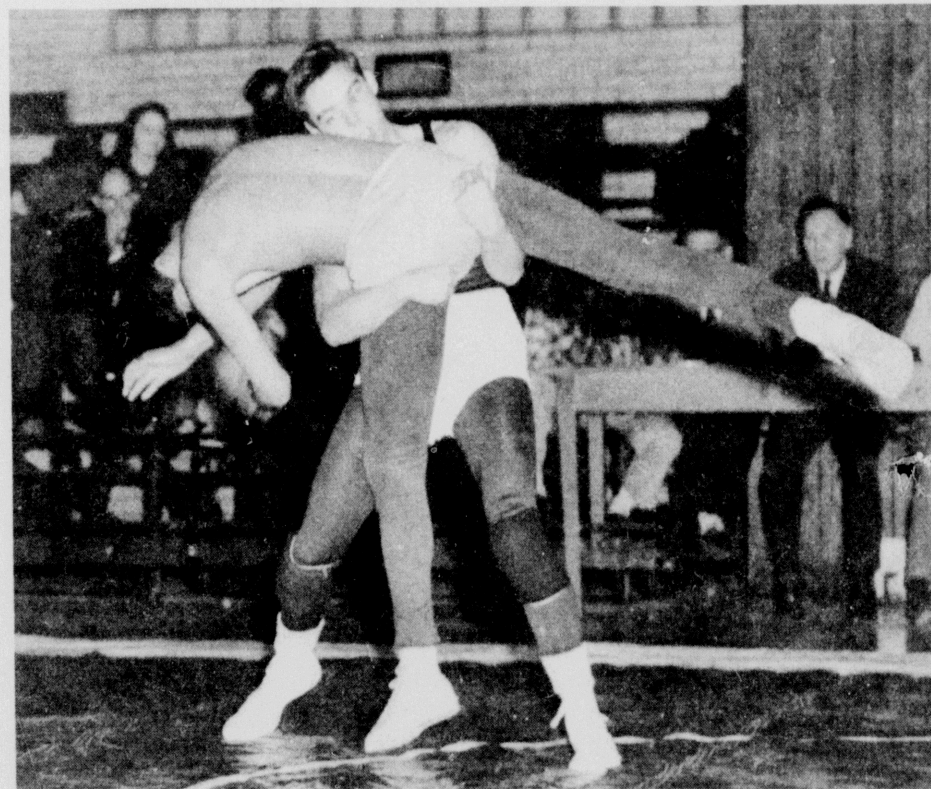

The presence of cheerleaders at the meets also adds to this growing sport.

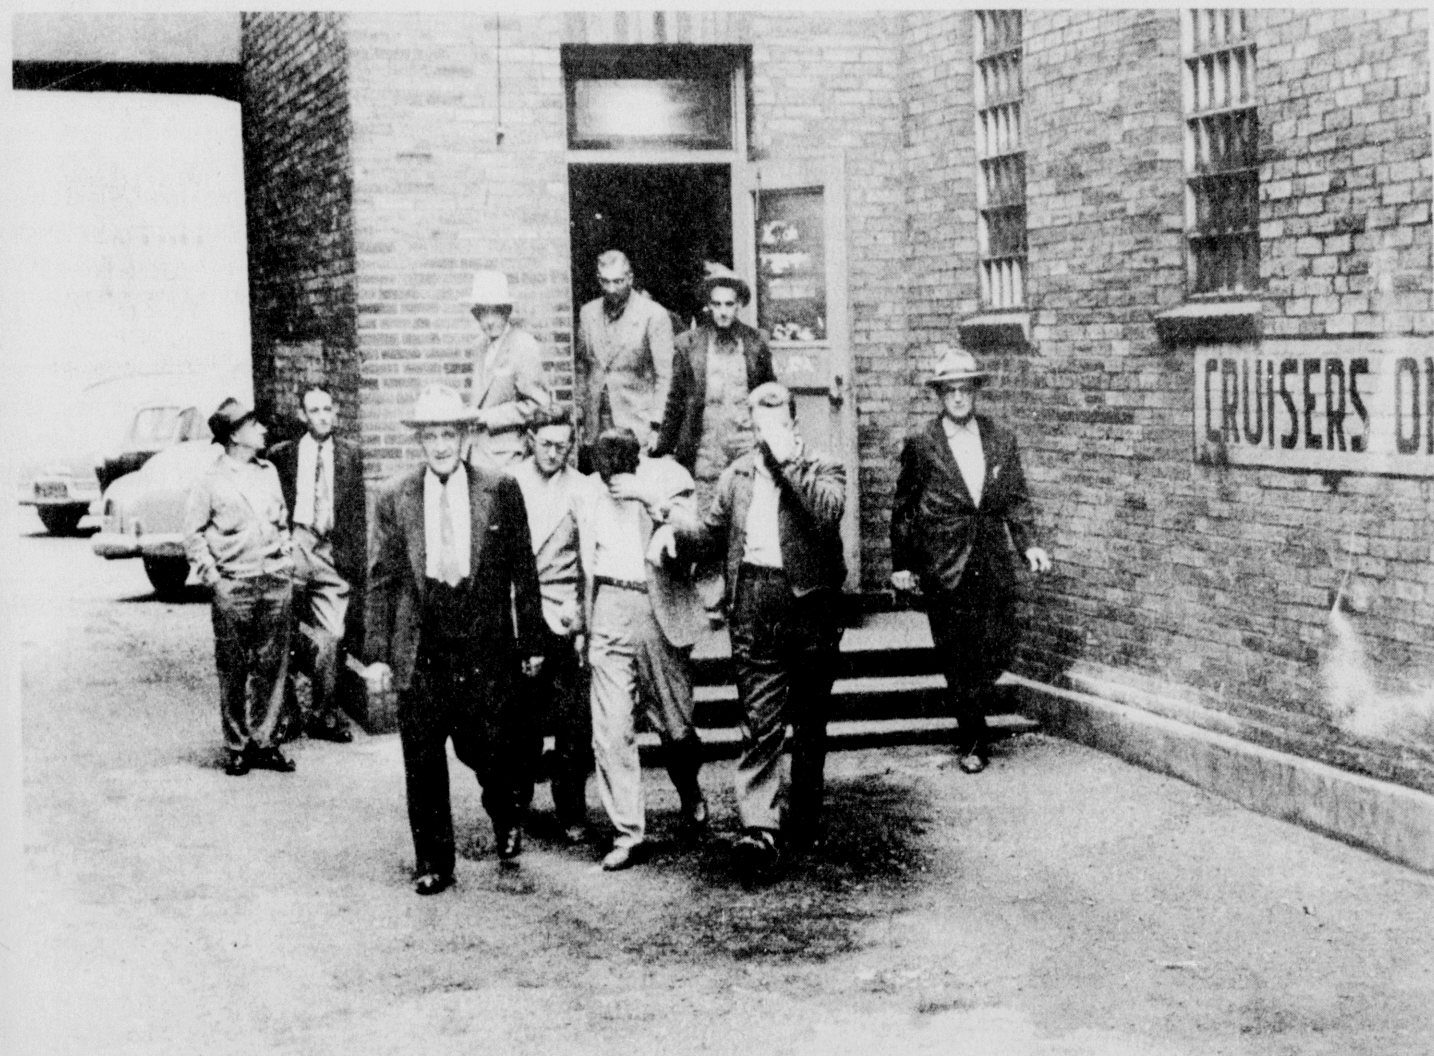

FIVE FOR BRUNO. The referee's hand came down as Bruno Zaffino applied the body press to Phil Saglimben of Gowanda.

"It is in control of the man who gives the answers. The public press conference belongs to the people and is in control of the men who ask the questions."

We are about to lose by default precious rights that took a long time, and lots of courage, to win.

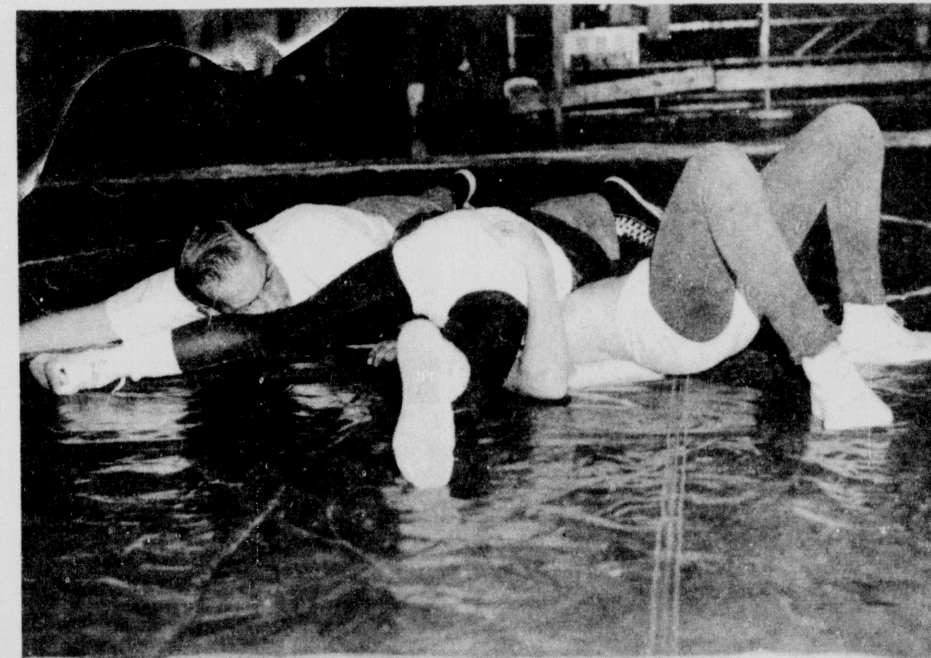

UP AND OVER. Warren's Bruce Trevenen maintained this kind of control to gain a decision over Ron Patterson Thursday.

TROUBLE THEY CAUSED in Clinton, Tenn. to be probed on "See It Now" Jan. 6. The arrest last month of the sixteen Clinton, Tenn., agitators -- shown here leaving the Knoxville jail -- is one of many episodes in the town's troubled desegregation program to be shown on "See It Now" Sunday, Jan. 6, 1957, when the distinguished series focuses its probing cameras on "Clinton and the Law: A Study in Desegregation" on the CBS Television Network.

A GOOD START. Young Larry Campbell, a 95-pounder, started Warren to a 41-8 win over Gowanda matmen when he put Denny Menshel to the canvas.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

1957 CRYSTAL BALL

This week we are rolling the future around from column to column. In this one we will generalize.

EDUCATION

It will be a major year for education in most of Warren county. Plans for the proposed Warren Area Joint high school should be completed and approved. Work should start in 1958.

We must decide what we want in this school. We must not approach it with a price ceiling. The figure will be determined by the need, and the Warren area is not so financially strapped that it cannot have the best.

It is apparent that we will have a new high school. Where it will be is not quite so clear. No ideal site has been found, though the objections to the Swick area, which most approve, have been greatly exaggerated. It has the inside track.

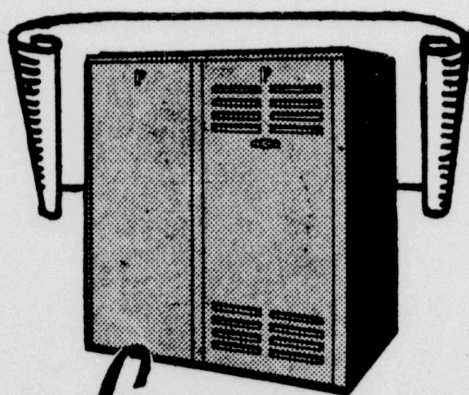

We believe we would be foolish to expect an adequate high school to cost us less than two and a half million dollars. The state will pay over two million of this. If we can fill our secondary school needs for a half million dollars, plus interest, we will be doing an exceptional job.

Education is going to cost us more money, and that will be true no matter whether we build a new high school or not. It will cost more to live in 1957. It will cost more to operate a business. It will cost more to run a community, a state, or a nation. And it will cost more to provide education. Add improvements and natural expansions, and you have more increase, some of which will be financed by the state.

but all of which will come out of your personal income.

The Eisenhower high school will be completed in 1957. It will prove what can be done when people knock down the old lines of yesterday and work together for tomorrow. It is the most modern and progressive school in Warren county, an example for all of us to study; and an example to shame a good share of us.

Tidioute and Sheffield have had the air cleared by the state. Their status has been in doubt, and it has been feared that they might be forced to join with others. They now have been told they are considered to be official school districts and can plan accordingly. Though it tells them where they stand, we doubt if it is the answer to their problems.

You also will hear more of the regional proposal for education in Pennsylvania. Regions are to replace counties as intermediates between local districts and the state. This legislation will be introduced in 1957 if it can be written in time. The legislature may kick it around so much you won't recognize it. We do not predict its passage this year.

TAXES GOING UP

In these days of continuing cost increase it always is safe to predict that taxes will climb. They naturally must move with prices, even as prices move up with wages, and wages move up with prices. An expensive circle.

Maurice Emery, chairman of the Warren borough finance committee, says wage increases for borough employees will cost $12,000. This is almost a mill. If a savings isn't found in other ways, obviously we must have another mill in taxes.

The Warren Area School board has not levied sufficient taxes to cover its costs. Such an operation cannot continue and the obvious remedy is help from more taxes.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

This no doubt will be the year when the Warren county commissioners will decide what method is to be used to make assessments. Once the method is determined an idea of the cost will be known and the tax bill can be set.

We believe the commissioners are apt to find that they have more money than they expected. The two new commissioners in 1956 had nothing to go by when it came to setting up a budget. The accounting system of the county was very poor. This they have attempted to correct. We believe the corrective steps will result in a surprising amount of revenue.

This may not mean a tax reduction, but it could mean that the assessing job can be done with little or even no increase.

It also suggests that a big help could be given to education through reference facilities and reading background by providing a county library service. This has been requested by school boards, PTA's, Granges, county firemen, and others. It would cost the county less than a mill and would be financially aided by the state.

However, the commissioners will have to show evidence of greater vision than previously has been prevalent in that office if it is to be done in 1957.

We may see more consolidation practiced in the commissioner office. We have noted that the current administration tends toward this policy. Polling houses are being sold and schools rented for election days. This eliminates the maintenance of these buildings.

We detect a displeasure with the annex and a tendency to move offices into the court house which has much room going to waste. Changes in court house offices, the location of officials, and even in personnel are predicted for 1957.

The commissioners also have taken the politics out of insurance. Instead of giving a major share of the insurance to one agency, all agencies have been invited to have a part and the insurance is distributed. This is a step for which they should be highly commended.

DISASTERS

We certainly wouldn't predict a repetition of last year's fires and floods, but we must not shut our eyes to the fact that both threats remain with us.

Warren is an old town and there are other buildings equally as filled with seasoned, dry wood as the Carver Hotel. Our present high school is one of them... brick walls and a mass of dry wood in the floors, walls, and ceilings!

Up to now (or up to this writing) we have not had the snow of last year. We started with snow in November, had it into April, and followed it with rain all summer. The result was a record river flood in the spring and two flash floods on nearby streams in the summer.

We do have one bad sign. The river has not returned to its low level, as is the case most falls. Rain has kept it up. It also has kept the ground saturated. If this continues, or if we have a store of heavy snow on top of it, we will be ripe for trouble in the spring.

We predict a light winter. And a hot summer.

This will be what often is called an off-year for election purposes. This is because few major state or national officials are chosen. In Warren county, death in office has changed the term sequence to leave little but the district attorney to be elected this year.

However, there are some important choices to be made locally. Nine councilmen and the burgess will be elected in Warren. There also will be school board members to be chosen.

Warren councilmen whose terms run out this year include Warren Miller, Nick Merenick, Jesse Smith, John Carbon, Paul Yagge, John Newmaker, Ted Berdine, R. E. Johnson, and Maurice R. Emery.

The burgess office has a special significance this year. Republican leaders are talking about Burgess William E. Rice as a potential successor to Assemblyman Allen Gibson if Mr. Gibson decides to run for the state senate when Senator Chapman retires. There is some doubt about this because Mr. Gibson has so many years in the assembly that he has much more status there than he would have as a new senator. If Mr. Gibson does decide to try for the senate, the Warren burgess office becomes a stepping stone.

WAR?

The world became very war conscious in 1956 due to Middle East developments. Communism made strides in that area and wedged into Africa. But communism lost ground in its continuing effort to take over the minds of the world's peoples.

The biggest set-back to be suffered by communism in many years occurred in Hungary. The cold murder of people who were asking no more than their freedom revealed to the naive, the lackadaisical, and even many warm supporters that communist leaders are not concerned with human rights.

The Soviet action awakened many from their complacency and revived international interest in this nation. The result should help those who believe we should take a more positive part in world affairs. Private groups swung into action and help for the Hungarians was organized quickly.

Will this make war talk bigger or smaller in 1957? The danger is to be found in desperate losers. We can conceive of men who will take any chance to maintain their power. If the Hungarian experience is a sign of crumbling within Soviet circles, does it mean that the first step toward a new freedom in communist areas is developing? We believe it does, but will it develop fast enough?

Or will those desperate ones we have in mind take atomic steps to save their crumbling bastions? Find the answer to that and you will know when war will come.

But 1957? We suggest alert preparedness on the part of every citizen.

GREETINGS

We sincerely wish for you a wonderful Yuletide as we pause to think of our good friends who have made our business possible.

JANIE AND HER HERO. Little Janie Huren was home and safe to celebrate her third birthday on October 10, thanks to her pal Lucky. The youngster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Huren, Hemlock st. ext., was the cause of a 100-man search the day before when she wandered into the woods near her home.

It was the 10-week-old companion that whined and brought searchers to the discovery of Janie, huddled in a clump of bushes on a rocky hill half-mile from home.

BIG ISSUE. One of the major issues facing the area in 1956 was the Kinzua dam.

Congressman Leon H. Gavin told some 400 persons attending a flood control meeting on April 4 that he had changed his mind. For many years an advocate of navigation, he stated he now realized it is not practical and is working for the construction of the Kinzua Dam.

The dam and other methods of controlling waters were subjects discussed by officials and persons attending.

Your Forest Ranger

By Larry Stotz

The last of the great army of hunters that invaded the Allegheny National Forest the opening day of deer season have left the Forest, and hung up their rifles until the cycle of falling leaves again heralds the opening of small game season next autumn.

Eluding the hunter, during the past two weeks, did not offer half the challenge to the deer population that the struggle for survival during the bleak winter months ahead promises. Fleetness of foot, acute intelligence, protective coloring, a keen sense of smell and alertness to the movements of their enemies are all of no avail to starving deer caught in a hunger web of their own making.

Like total war, starvation does not discriminate between the sexes. The weakling dies whether it be buck, doe or yearling fawn. The spike buck that through malnutrition was unable to grow the extra inch of antler to become legal game has been spared by the hunter only to fall to the ground near some water course the victim of winter starvation.

Although death loss by starvation is an annual affair on the Allegheny National Forest, it is not the spectacular and revolting thing that man is capable of inflicting on his own kind with his concentration camps with planned mass starvation, the tool of the conqueror.

Death in the Forest by starvation is an individual affair, and the deer that crumples to the snow covered ground is scarcely missed. I have stumbled upon their remains at the foot of a tree I was measuring for a timber sale, or upon stepping over a moss covered hemlock log have nearly stepped upon a crumpled body. Sometimes I encounter one in a stream bed or in the pit left by an ancient uprooted tree. Once I encountered one staggering down a logging road where it seemed to find the walking easier, only to fall and struggle to its feet again and again.

Like the victims of auto accidents who are picked off one or two at a time on the highways of America so that the enormity of the annual slaughter is never really comprehended by the public, the deer that die of malnutrition over the half-million acres of the Allegheny National Forest are rarely seen and never missed. And yet this death loss, and the stunted condition of the deer that do survive are as unnecessary as the senseless slaughter and crippling that occurs among American motorists and pedestrians.

More liberalized hunting, which will permit the hunting of deer of either sex, and consequent herd reduction together with a stepped up program of habitat development to create better food conditions for a reduced herd would permit the deer population of the Forest to face the rigors of winter confidently, and escape the hunger trap that excess numbers have created.

Legal buck deer weight measurements on the Forest during the 1956 season averaged about 105 pounds. When you realize that whitetail bucks have been known to exceed 300 pounds, where food conditions were ideal, the deer weights on the Allegheny National Forest in 1956 provide a sad commentary on the condition of the deer range on this Forest and provide little hope for maximum timber crops in the future.

J. B. LEIDIG, beloved member of the Warren high school faculty for 43 1/2 years and football coach for 40 years, announced his retirement from the borough school system in January.

"For who hath nought to give but love
"Gives all his heart away.
"And giving all, hath all to give
"Another Christmas Day."

—Charles W. Kennedy
